

Mini Mission

Make an underwater theatre

Transform a Boden box into an all-singing, all-dancing, all-swimming underwater theatre.
Lights, clam shell, action...

What you'll need

What to do

1 Gather all your materials - including the printed cut-outs. You'll need a grown-up to help too.

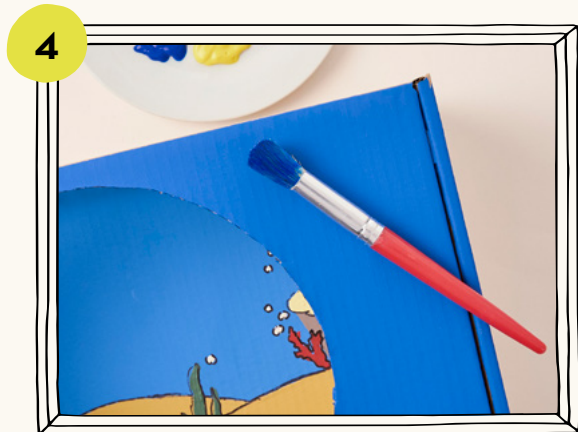

2 Draw a circle on top of the box and carefully cut it out.

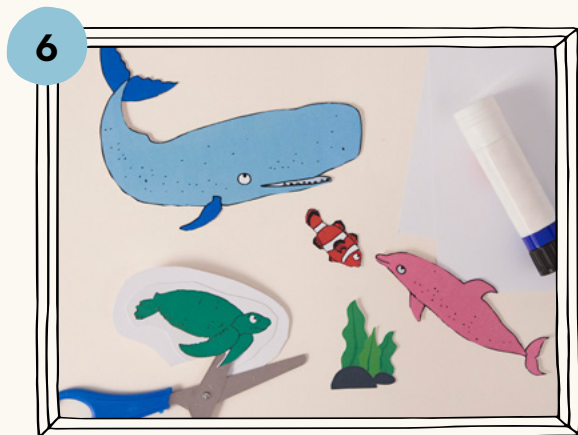

3 Open the box and paint an ocean scene inside. Cut out the seaweed and glue to the background.

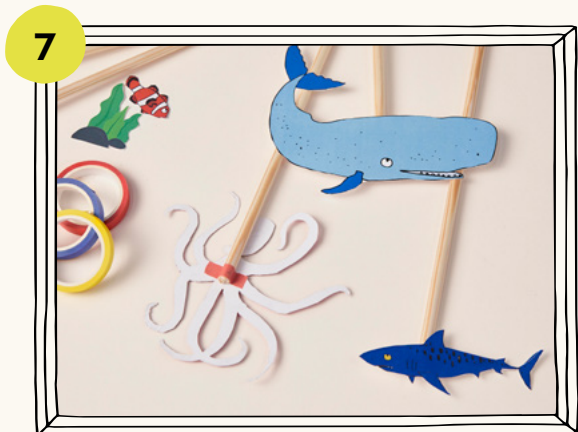

4 With the box closed, paint the front. Let everything dry before the next step.

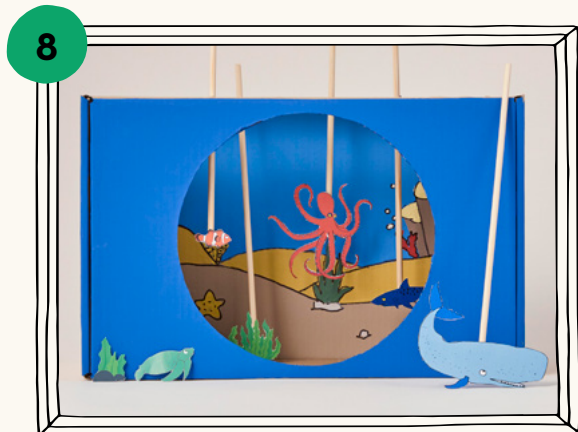

5 Cut out a strip on top that's 5cm wide and almost as long as the box.

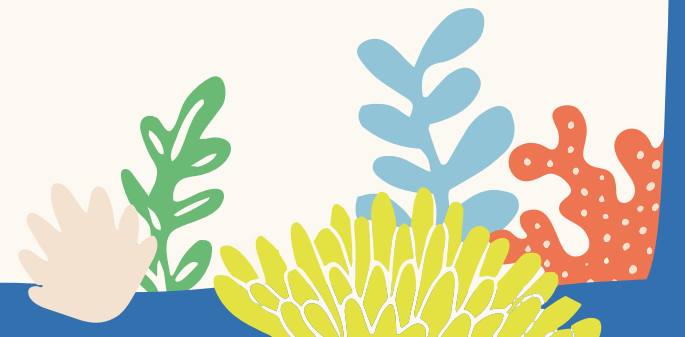

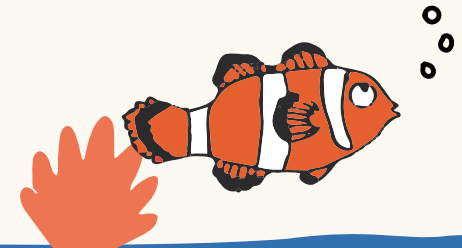

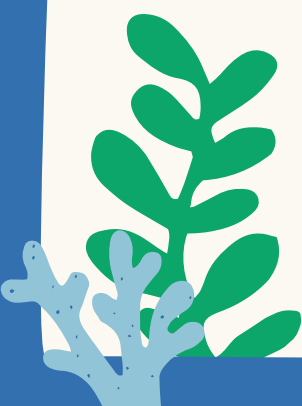

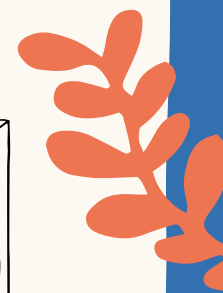

6 Stick the animals onto a piece of card (an old cereal box works well) and cut them out.

7 Attach the animals to the sticks with a piece of tape.

8 Your theatre is now ready for its first performance. Break a fin.
